

Welcome to the Alarmtec Website

The Right Choice for Fire Alarm Systems Design - Supply - Install - Commission - Service Alarmtec Ltd is based in the southwest of England and is one of the country's leading independent fire system suppliers and installers. We are a local company, providing a nationwide service with engineers based across England and Wales. Whether you are considering a complete fire system, or maintenance of your existing, we have the expertise to help. We provide a 24 hour 365 days a year breakdown service to all our maintenance clients. Alarmtec has established links to many of the worldwide manufacturers of fire protection equipment. For truly independent advice about your fire protection system, talk to Alarmtec.

About Us

We are a well established fire alarm system company, with experienced engineers, trained to the current BS5839, working throughout mainland UK. We can provide advice, maintenance, and system design to the relevant British Standard.

We have installed systems for major high street supermarkets, distribution centres, retailers, banks, nursing homes, councils, hospitals, educational establishments, housing associations and other commercial premises. Established in 1977 by the directors as a systems company, we specialise in the supply and installation of fire alarm systems throughout the United Kingdom. As the industry and legislation have become more involved and onerous, we have invested and developed into other related products and services. Included in our systems structure today are; consultancy, design, supply, supply and commission of fire alarm systems, emergency lighting; access control systems, air sampling, portable extinguishers and special product manufacturing. Armed with this background, it has enabled us to help end users, consultants and contractors to achieve the ideal solutions to today's tasking requirements.